

Return to Innocence & the Divine Mechanism (Part 2)

The Freedom Teachings state that during the long period of the Angelic Wars (250Bill' YA > 570Mill' YA) the Anyu/ Elohim-Annunaki race turned their collective face against Source, abandoning their 12 Strand DNA status. Two million years later the Annu-Elohim Fallen Angelics created the Annunaki, (also 11 Strand). Their committed purpose was to completely emasculate Angelic Humans, their DORMANT 12 Strand DNA and their Covenant to guard, protect & heal this Time Matrix, while assisting other life forms bio-regenesis.

The spiritual as well as physical castration and mutilation that Human Angelic's have suffered are legion. Forms and varieties of lies, deceit, abuse & mutilation continue, understated. These are detailed, to some extent, in sterile form on this site. See: "Summary Topics 1"

Source feels us, "sparks of consciousness," wrestling to render "good" victorious; the Founders Races in Service to the Kryst stand compromised. The response of Angelic Humans is patiently awaited.

My years as Speaker 2 have provided a foundation for understanding all that this implies to Emerald Covenant, ascension hopes, and the personal, difficulties we currently face. The details of the Divine Mechanism (aka Blueprint) have been hidden from us, our memory has been cancelled, our energetic atmosphere on Earth horribly compromised. Part 2 adds to our understanding of our Source given function, angelic science, & how your energetic-self functions to either facilitate or obstruct your spiritual intention. How vital it is that you must grow the relationship with your higher (and therefore 'lower') mind together with your internal, emotional, world to become a more effective, activated, FULLY CONSCIOUS Angelic Human.

As we will soon see, it is the central imperative of all spiritual 'ambition' that energetic mental & emotional body states are brought MUCH closer to “neutral charge” than is currently typical. Elsewise, biochemical, hormonal, & neurological limitations will corrupt our most earnest aspirations.

In the previous post, ‘Part 1’, I introduced several, less known, chemical processes that exist in and around our DNA as well as introducing essential component parts. I assumed that most readers would recognize, vaguely or otherwise, that the input of causal energy, aka Primal Life Force Currents, emanate from Source and the Unified Field due to the interaction of the Kathara Grid, the mathematical splendour of the Krystal Spiral, both aided and abetted by the pumping action of a fully functional Merkaba drawing the flow from Source and returning it to Source.

What! Returning it ... t’t’t’ to Source you mean, A’SaN? Sure do. Source could take a ‘read’ on your progress, your evolution, anytime, if needs be. After all, you ARE a PART of IT; there is no separate ‘YOU’ except the lower mind. That is the true and correct illusion that everyone talks about. But, this feeling represses you, & may well deflect you into Phantom earth.

I cannot prove to you that any of the above trio of crucial components exist, since you cannot verify anything from your current state of being. Perhaps because the trio of channels that is your DNA (yes siree, 3 channels) and the attendant epigenetic overlay conspire to limit your efficacy. But you still cannot see anything. However, we CAN see through the eyes of certain pioneering scientists. [see esp. Dr. Prof. Konstantin Meyl] It is through this approach I intend to offer you almost tangible belief that what you see, feel and think DIRECTLY expresses, affects and forms who you are. The POTENTIAL you may crave to be included in an Evac’ group, is often compromised by knee jerk MECHANISMS stored WITHIN your blood/ DNA; your automatic MENTAL-EMOTIONAL WEAKNESSES.

The Unified Field is Living Energy Substance composed of geometrical “fabrics” or grids of electro-tonal, electromagnetic energy called Source Particle Grids. These grids serve as templates of either light spectra or sound tones upon which particle (+ve) and antiparticle (-ve) structures are formed, by and through which ALL organic life forms throughout the cosmos are formed and are therefore energetically connected.

The key to all of this connectivity and potential lies in the recognition of not only the existence of scalar magnetic waves (as revealed by KS in the Kathara Series materials), but also their nature as well as function in regards to biological DNA. molecular compaction i.e. polarity reversal. These occur due to potential vortex phenomena arising from the characteristics present, not least being the concentration effect providing miniaturization down to just a few nanometers, as well as encouraging corresponding masses of information density distributed throughout cell nuclei. This level of information is used to interact with one's genetic code, chemically stored and electrically modulated, piggybacking information from one cell nucleus to another; all energy is provided by the magnetic wave itself (as a unit/ phenomenon of the Unified Field of Consciousness). A function not at all dissimilar to a kind of biological supercomputer system.

Distortions in scalar wave symmetry, in KS-speak, are known as “miasms” and/ or molecular compaction (polarity reversals) caused by electromagnetic inputs as mentioned above & in the previous post. These can arise also from either “epigenetic” effects/ sources, encryptions, and other influences closer to ground level responsible for chaotic patterns expressed as energetic stress. Any and all elements at variance with your own perception, thoughts and feelings register much more deeply, are more compromising to spiritual aspiration, than most people realise.

Epigenetic overlays express as biochemical mechanisms (information). “Epi” means “on top of,” thus lie on top of the genes (and chromosomes). These overlays are responsible for activating or deactivating different characteristics (or expressions) of particular genes without changing DNA structure. (There is some sense that these aspects are ‘braided,’ so to speak, during the karmic transfer associated with the Planetary Biofeed Interface System (PBIS) and soul transition). “Epigenetic” phenomena has so far been known to entrain influences spanning 5 < 8 generations (but I suspect far more) and appears to be associated with ones “karmic imprint”, previous lives ‘bleed through’, and so on.

Encryption is the signature of a set of vibrations that hold intention, keyed by virtue of an interwoven framework of energetic patterns (Sound as well as implied Sonic's in geometric patterns – inc. KS codes, of course). The cumulative sum of the frequency vibration of someone's core Encryption Lattice, the net frequency value of ones state in any given moment, is called the "Base Pulse Rhythm" or the "BPR". If you feel stressed, anxious, angry or ill, the BPR will be off, sometimes very off, and decidedly un-Krystic. States of BPR can be readily observed by FEEDERS as well as higher dimensional beings. (In 3D also via Electro photonic Imaging or Bioelectrography technology – Messrs. Jakovleva and Krotokov).

The point I want to make here is that the human body is considerably more sensitive to sound, receiving imprints, positive &/or negative, quite beyond the normally understood degree. And, at every point, the blood/ DNA responds accordingly. DNA is influenced by words and frequencies too.

The source of all dis-ease, biochemical imbalance, is not as doctors and medical researchers are taught. Dis-ease occurs largely due to the obstruction of information in the bio-energetic field and the loss of intra-cellular communication, miasmically or in real time. The consequences directly affect the function/influence of the templates of consciousness (morphogenetic fields), crystallised light & sound, which sustains the matter form and conscious identity. This phenomenon expresses both microcosmically and macrocosmically. These fields of crystallized light and sound are also called Scalar Fields (or Grids), fixed points of perpetual fusion & fission. Surrounding every atom, chromosome, cell, molecule, organ, as well as our entire physical body, are clouds of information (aka consciousness). The human morphogenetic field is massive sphere of energy, containing lesser spheres for the biological, mental, emotional and spiritual elements, right down to the smallest unit physics has identified (quarks, protons, electrons).

A brief example: the performance of a Nervous System depends on the relative frequencies of potentized neurons underlying the pathways. Plus, associated communications through excitable membranes. Signals (info') are generated through your system according to available action potential (electrical). Optimised ion chambers normally allow specifically charged particles to cross membranes (& proteins span membranes too) to interact with the charge potential of various amino acids found within specific domains.

Ions interact with certain acids and are “charge selective” i.e. electrochemical exclusion. Similarly, size exclusion can get involved, whereas certain ‘events’ may/ may not open a channel (aka microcosmic ‘gates’): ligand gated, mechanically gated, voltage gated and randomly gated (leakage channel). The LEVEL of membrane charge potential itself plays a critical role. This small sample of the electro-chemical function of your body is, I hope, sufficient to illustrate that everything is affected by frequencies, light and sound, as is convincingly illustrated by the KS Healing Modality “Kathara” (Ka=Light, Tha=Sound, Ra=One) which brings together the beautiful frequency related cacophony I’m addressing here.

And, finally, most recent research reveals that our DNA is not a 2 Strand coil, but formed of 3, the third helix being invisible but occupying displacement space called the “Major Groove” which is located between the 2 helical strands. Scientists know the Major Groove as a magnetic field made up of phosphates with negative charge and associated fields. The MG is not empty, but instead is where all information for genetic coding of life exists [Ref: Rodin, M. “Quantum Mechanic State of DNA Sequencing”]. Our DNA (inc. “Introns”, aka 90% DNA as junk) communicates via Scalar Waves and is therefore sensitive to words, language, pitch and volume (as tones/ frequencies), KS techniques as well as other external (e.g. music) as well as esoteric non-verbal frequencies of hyper-dimensional origin (e.g. soul matrix, etheric interference, etc).

‘Mind’ raises the functional level of all relationships & potentials. Our body parts imply the “return to innocence” completely suggestive as the prerequisite for all kinds of internally generated frequencies and ‘transmigration’ (ascension/ evac). Without this internal progression of frequency accretion molecular & ARPS responses cannot possibly entrain

(Your Divine Mechanism Cannot ‘Split Emotional Body Hairs’)

A Zen koan handily transports me toward completion:

“After ecstasy, the (ahem) laundry”

The conjunction of these two posts make one thing utterly crystal; we DO have a Divine Mechanism, it exists by definition rather than good fortune, absolutely independent of the tenant. Did anyone ever get and hold our attention about what we could achieve if we acted in concert with the mechanism? “Not nearly” is closest to the truth, not the way I have done, built upon the fundamentals presented by Ash’ and Kathara. And in this regard I am making utterly clear that there is plenty of work to do, and how, where and why it should be done. I’ve spelled it out already, what no external technique can accomplish. And that is “taking control” of your emotional & mental self, paying attention to the mechanisms and relieving your entire material expression of as much B/S, falseness, pretension, lies and deception; all the cumulative stress frequencies that arise from fake-ness. This is the key, the missing piece, the alchemists misapprehension!

The kids that did the Witness Quiz, beforehand admitting they made inferior choices knowingly, opened my eyes. I wanted to say: “That’s fine, that’s OK, but don’t pretend that you are serious about ascension. Yes you are kind, generous, compassionate, empathetic, ‘spiritual’ folks but that admission won’t get you over the line!”

It is in moments like these that we meet ourselves full on, possibly for the first, insightful moment, of our earthly lives. Its like finding ourselves on the flight deck of a quantum delimited piece of technology that can fly as high and wide as we wish, if only we can find how the myriad controls operate! And while we fiddle frantically, pushing nobs, throwing switches, turning levers, trying to realise the ecstasy of the ascension party, we fail to notice the mental-emotional mess that is strewn everywhere, knee deep in places, all along our personal runway! Absent of mind as we fumble along!

We have all sashayed some distance since birth, some much more than others. We have all suffered the admonishments of kind and not so kind, sometimes cruel, incapable parents. Despite whatever comfort we found there we soon discovered that to ensure we got what we wanted, what we believed we needed, we would develop devices, strategies even, to underpin our needs (nowadays projected in overkill from our outside, media driven, world). We acquired masks, assumed temporary identities, measured truths economically, became adept at lying and deception; every miniscule jot, FEAR BASED. This is the root of pretty much everything we now see reflecting back to us. And the fear of not pleasing someone, not fitting in, not receiving “likes” on Facebook, all expose more fear revealing our vulnerability, perpetuating inauthenticity, likely peddling fake truths too.

As a result, our “congregation” receives “the Word” with the explicit consequence that ‘the word’ never acquires any profound level of meaningfulness amongst the receivers. People hang on whatever paradigm gives them comfort; a most peculiar criterion as it exists distinct from “truth”. Psychiatrists call this “confirmation bias” (adding to your prior, same/ similar beliefs). There is little or no innate curiosity, no inclination to explore, to dig deeper and/ or wider. We need to experience truth from within ourselves; if it is not our truth, both gift and possession, it is of little value. “Parrot talking” is the language of the moral bigot who knows what is right for everyone else but does not know him/ herself. Yes, it is a sign of the times, but that does not excuse either behaviour or effect. It does not support acceptance, much less objective agreement, to any degree!

“Fake” is the state of our world; fake money, fake desires, fake wealth, fake ideas, fake interest rates, fake cars, fake lives, etc. No blame is suggested nor is it discretely implied. Serfdom, which is what we all suffer, exists everywhere, crushing ‘spirit’ right left and centre, allowing no time for recovery, reflection and consideration of ideas we might want to explore more deeply. This old adage has lent great meaning for me down the years: “seek and ye shall find” my Gran’ would often say, wagging her arthritic pinkie. Don’t expect to find anything if you wait to be shown.

To draw out the reality of the consequences of this post I heartily recommend that you practice, beginning to TRUST your SOUL, as well as consider the explicit contribution your soul is waiting to make, to be recognised and involved. You MUST TRUST your MENTORING Inner Elf (ref. Kathara). This is the big deal, the only way to develop “hyperdimensional biological efficiency”. Thus producing the vital, necessary, new hormonal functions; frequency accretes as you progress and biological changes will follow, occurring unforced, naturally.

One last, and very important point. I would like to think that as a result of what is said here, some of you will understand the potential of the fundamental need and purpose for resolution of the very evident genetic differences between “man” & “woman”.

I truly believe that restoration of this MAGICAL UNITY is the last great, ever-hidden, secret concerning the purpose of the Angelic Human. This UNITY is the missing creative force of the Source given “Oneness”, root of the Emerald Covenant, that will turn the tables on the Anyu-Annu-Elohim. That is the TRUE intent, meaning and purpose of ONENESS guys. Its PERSONAL. The egregious PREVARICATION & distortion that EVERYTHING is one, is the worst of many Thothian mantra’s that mislead our pursuit of Truth. Here, in D3, Angelic Humans are the ONE in Source.

EPILOGUE

A Brief History of Persistence (trusting my inner voice)

Nothing in the world can take the place of persistence.

Talent will not; Genius will not; Education will not.

Persistence & Determination Alone Are Omnipotent.

Continues ...

I was born just after WWII came to its unholy end; the shock and horror my parents carried registered across my whole membrane & nervous systems, to the extent I birthed 2 weeks late. Life after such death, cruelty, starvation across half the globe was miserable, really appalling (< 70 million died, mostly non-combatants, due to starvation). The signature of such persistent suffering has never left me, consistent with the clear recollection of poverty, parental anxiety & depression that shaped my life and character, I guess.

At age 4 an hyperdimensional friend appeared over my little sand-pit; she/he, a mantis like alien visitor, would mind speak while showing me geometric shapes. An aggressive ET response to this innocent alliance appeared eventually; a 'sonic pulse' scared the bejesus out of me. I began bed wetting that night; the terror of "hagging" shortly after (sleep hypnosis). My parents were hopeless. Mother was particularly fearful and was emotionally incapable. Night after night my Father would eventually lash out angrily, interrupting their sleep; I sensed other resentments too. I had stood erect, I recall, one Sunday afternoon, blurting the words: "Mum, mum, granddads dead". A telegram arrived an hour later; while my Mother wailed & Dad wacked me too hard!

Consequently, due to the stress and anxiety, at age 7 I suffered health issues, eventually an NDE. That ended any whatever academic aspiration I had. Looking back though, this introduced the first, overt, sign of the "invisible hand;" it appeared, from time to time, in my life.

Both before and after I regularly spooked folk according to what I had innocently uttered. Never once, then as now, did I think of myself as different; I truly thought everyone else thought and felt as I did! I gradually became a loner, didn't fit in anywhere, wandered aimlessly, intent on finding release & freedom (meaning) in my life. Meanwhile, I was academically incapable, all confidence beaten out of me by the 'tawse'!

It was not until I discovered the power of love (at 19) that I got my vocational academic ass in gear. Love like I had never known seemed to solicit support of the "invisible hand." I graduated my apprenticeship with colours, and encountered unanticipated educational that were "pre-ordained" I swear; gratitude drove commitment and work rate with glad heart. An unheard of University place eventuated and, even more unlikely, a scholarship to US business school

This led to opportunities way above my station, and out of my social depth. I soon quit two top jobs in succession due to my new found loathing for lack of ethics, corporate focus on nothing but money, and zombie directors twisted & crippled by their 'buyable' personalities & self centered myopia.

I was out of work, with a wrecked my “resume” when another random event occurred. A mystery voice called one Sunday morning and said: “If you have a copy of the Sunday Times, go to X and find Y”. I got the job that saved my life and, as a result, found a niche for undiscovered talent that eventually produced the scope, responsibility & independence I silently craved. I became an expert in my field and much later employed 30 ‘right on’ people helping me help other smaller firms grow their businesses. I ran it along lines of best spiritual practice; everyone had a stake in ‘our’ profits.

After almost 10 years of bliss, leading the team I lost my home/ office due to bad debt tied up with the British government’s abortive effort to join the EU. Again, the invisible hand intervened. The house next door to my own, was owned by a guy who needed to tax exile; I found out the night same night I discovered the mess I had suffered my family.’ I was almost 50.

I crawled my back 3 years on, borrowed money, and the new business developed well. Months later I was driving down the only road I could travel to reach the motorway when a strange moment spliced my early morning reality. So distinct, yet swift, and it was over. I questioned that it had actually happened, a voice said: “Michael, would you leave your children to be of service to our Creator?” Before I had time to do or think anything else, I heard myself saying “Yes”. In dread, I hoped it would be forgotten !

Almost 2 years later I was broken, one might say. I had been beaten by the same problem, again. This time I lost everybody and everything. I volunteered government administered bankruptcy so that I could protect remaining assets, so my wife could survive and house my children. By that time I was, I thought, progressing well on my spiritual path; pretty well enmeshed in the UK’s best healing center (Shambalah, Glastonbury), enjoying clear trust, companionship and uncluttered friendships. I held on there despite my realisation that: i) Reiki was not in alignment (for me) although I had already become a “master”, and ii) I realized that the so called Ascended Masters, AA-M, GWB, Alice Bailey and Blavatsky were essentially fake. They were simply tools that others used to justify taking money from the gullible people; I grew more outspoken over time.

Divorce loomed and with the change of my circumstances another test came. I was penniless and just a few days from being homeless. I had had a very short, silent, discussion about whether I would trust spirit, sleep under a tree if needs be. I answered yes, strangely unafraid & with no hesitation once again. Within a week I found myself sharing a 200 acre farm with a “radionics” magician; he was known in the Tor region as the “Time Lord”. To me he appeared as an irascible 70 year old who never suffered fools gladly. Major Gordon Smith proved to be my “Wayshower”, opening my mind gently, confirming things with a voracious enthusiasm but with whispered gentleness; I could never forget him.

Beyond a blessed few I lived aimlessly once more, without purpose, feeling humbled and ashamed at my fall from grace. But, it seems, that my light persisted, never faded. I continued doing small 'Spirit & Earth Changes' workshops with peeps, begging and borrowing venues. After one session on a sunny day in August '98 I logged on to the web try to help someone with a question and, "freakishly", came upon an article entitled "Toto, were not in Kansas any more" (authored by Anna Hayes Gruber aka Ashayana). I ordered a copies of both Voyagers books immediately, sensing something I couldn't quite described; urgency was paramount though. I ordered more for numerous people, and quickly after that. Meanwhile, I wrote to Ash via her publisher to offer support for the work in Europe. She later told me that on contact with the envelope she announced to several folk present in her Sarasota house: "this is from a true Cloister Melchizedek".

I needed to meet her and, lo and behold, the invisible hand produced a sponsor for the first Peru workshop (July 2000), just prior to the workshop tour I had arranged in the UK. In less than 3 months of that meeting we underwent the sacred Eieyani "Sha-Ha-Na" AM/PM Marriage Rite on Sarasota Beach. That evening she shared that the Ma'a, our Eieyani contact, had told her that we had been married before, during Jesus time. Allegedly, I was known then as "John the Baptist" ...
